

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

NCR Biochemical S.p.A. thinks that the environmental care should be pursued constantly, because of the increasing attention of the society on environmental problems and sustainable development. By means of the environmental policy explained in this document, NCR Biochemical S.p.A. wants to show its engagement to protect the environment and to define a guide to carry out and increase its environmental managing system.

NCR Biochemical S.p.A. is aware that its activities, products or services, have effects that may interfere with the natural ecological stability. It declares that the environmental protection is his strategic goal, and checks that all its operations or suppliers' operations are made according to this.

The main goals of the company in this field are making sure that operations are made in conformity with laws, that environmental performances are increased and pollution is prevented.

For this reason, the company decided to create and apply an Environmental Managing System following the requests of the Law UNI EN ISO 14001:2015.

NCR Biochemical S.p.A. is going to act as follows, in order to obtain these goals:

- Be sure that all the staff is aware, responsible and informed of the company's efforts regarding the environmental aspects of the activities made
- Introduce a control system of its own environmental aspects to confirm the validity of interventions made.
- Develop and use suitable procedures to find out and minimize negative environmental impacts due to its own activities,
- Find out and use suitable instruments to influence behaviours and environmental performances of suppliers and subcontractors;
- Use processes and materials that are more and more compatible with the environment
- Support the preservation of natural resources by means of actions aiming at using effectively energy sources;
- Improving the business processes by technological innovation and IT resources rationalising;
- Check garbage production and improve its management.
